Foreword by Åke Jacobson

President, International Orienteering Federation

It is almost a decade since the Extraordinary General Assembly in Tampere, Finland, decided to change the programme of our world events. The most significant decision was to introduce annual World Championships and World Cup series of events in foot orienteering. Since then the other disciplines have harmonised their programmes accordingly.

During this Congress period, the IOF Council has made a comprehensive evaluation of our elite events. The key outcome is that the decisions taken in Tampere in 2001 remain a very valid foundation to ensure that our sport has a series of world events with a high attraction value. The evaluation also shows that we have managed to significantly increase the visibility of our sport over the last few years, mainly by bringing some of our events close to where people are and by having professional arena production at all major events.

We need, however, to further develop our competition models and discipline formats to reach a wider audience through TV and webcasting media. We must make our sport easier to understand and more exciting to watch. Council has concluded that our prime TV product, the World Championships, must be shaped to better attract today's demanding sports audience.

New formats such as mass or chase starts that are easier to follow and understand must be introduced and we need a new format that makes us unique when compared to other sports. The mixed relay with 2 women and 2 men on the team is such an example. This format has been used in the World Games with great success and it is now time to also introduce it as a permanent format in our World Championships. In ski orienteering, a Sprint World Cup and a mixed relay have already been introduced to increase the attractiveness to spectators and to create a programme better suited to the Olympics.

Event quality has been a priority issue for the Council during this Congress period.

"There are many wonderful events at IOF level, but also some that bring us less satisfaction". The words are those of a group of National Team coaches approaching the IOF with their views on event quality.

We tend to take for granted that all 'in-forest' aspects at our major events are fair. We know that this is the case most of the time. Yet sometimes we have to admit that we could have done better. We have to address these issues with priority to be able to guarantee a uniform high standard in all major events. Our top athletes have a highly professional approach to our sport and we need to ensure that all our events meet their quality expectations.

Council has recently decided to implement a new concept for improving event quality. Among the main features are the development and communication of quality standards and the strengthening of event advising. Each major event will be provided with a team of advisers to be better able to meet all knowledge requirements in relation to such events. The IOF Secretariat will also play a more active role in ensuring that quality standards are met.

Besides the event advisers team, a number of additional initiatives have been taken. The introduction of an annual High Level Event Seminar, the joint event adviser seminars for different disciplines and the newly published WOC Guidelines are all examples. All these different initiatives will work together to ensure event quality in all four disciplines and make our sport more attractive to athletes, spectators, media and partners.

I want to thank everyone working in the IOF and at the national level in all countries around the world for your contribution to our sport's development. Finally, a sincere thanks to our Secretariat for the energy and support given to all of us working in a voluntary capacity for the IOF.

Realising Strategic Directions

By endorsing Strategic Directions 2006–2012, the XXIII IOF Ordinary General Assembly in Aarhus, Denmark provided clear direction for the IOF's development over the next few years.

In the Congress period 2008–2010, the IOF has continued to work towards achieving the adopted vision that orienteering be recognised as a truly global sport; attractive to all; present and credible on the world sporting stage; and included in the Olympic Summer and Winter Games.

The key goals to be achieved by the end of the strategy period 2006–2012 are:

- Orienteering a Global Sport
- A World Series of events with increased attraction value well established; and
- Presence and increased credibility on the world sporting stage

The Activity Plan 2008–2010 was based on a thorough evaluation of the activities in the previous Congress period and aimed at building on the progress already made in each of the four strategic areas: Regional Development and Co-operation, Attractive World Events, Promotion and Marketing towards Olympic Inclusion and Strong Management and Funding. To supplement the overall activity plan, all commissions have sought to realise specific remits. Council has reviewed and evaluated both the overall activity plan as well as the achievements of every commission.

Regional strategy successful

The Activity Plan 2008–2010 comprised five main actions to support the development of the sport around the world. These were:

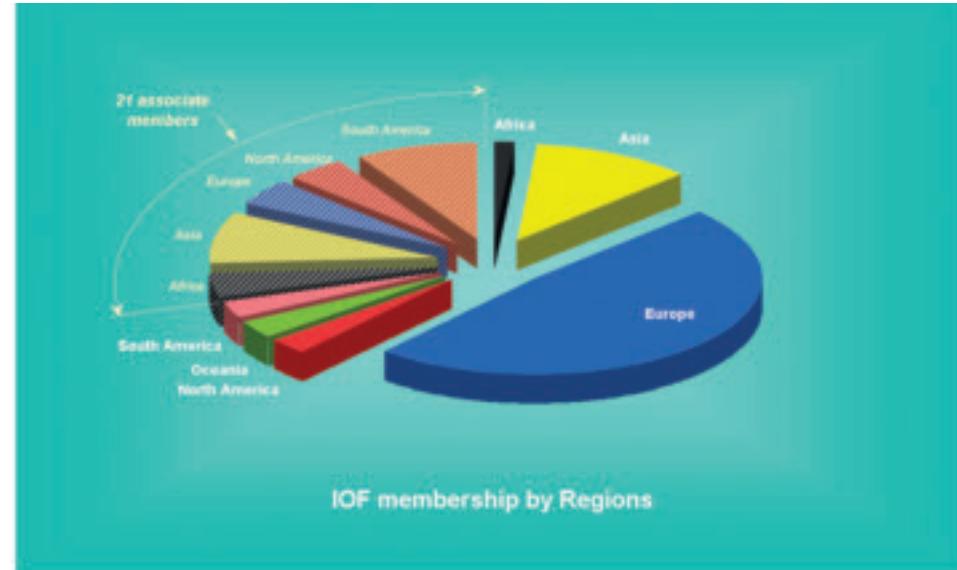

- Recognising and supporting regional working groups
- Initiating development programmes in Africa, Asia and South America
- Continuing to conduct the IOF O-Ringen Academy
- Encouraging bilateral support of developing federations
- Taking initiatives to increase the numbers of full members

Progress has been made on each and results identified.

Formal Regional Working Groups are now active in Asia, Europe and South America. In North America there is increased co-operation between Canada and the USA and in Oceania co-operation continues between Australia and New Zealand. Formal IOF Regional Championships are now held or planned in all regions with the exception of Africa.

Regional development workshops and conferences have been held in South America and Asia. In Africa, attempts to organise a regional development conference have so far not yet been realised but in March 2009 the first ever African IOF Event Advisers' Clinic was held.

The partnership between the IOF, the Swedish Orienteering Federation and the O-Ringen organisers has grown stronger over the past two years with real progress being made to attract representatives of new and developing countries to the O-Ringen Academy. O-Ringen is developing the Academy brand and 2009 saw the creation of a training camp for juniors and the addition of an IOF Event Advisers' Clinic as part of the programme. The 2009 International Academy attracted 38 participants from 21 countries. In 2010, the Academy programme has been further developed to include a second level of training.

Several IOF member federations have contributed to the global spread of orienteering by supporting the development of orienteering in new countries. The IOF is particularly grateful to Norway for supporting the development of a federation in Iceland; to Great Britain for the work done in Cyprus; to Austria for initiatives in Kenya; to Italy for supporting Albania and Montenegro; and to South Africa for the continuing support of development in Africa.

Regional development is supported by a network of Regional Development Delegates appointed by the IOF to co-ordinate development activities in their respective regions. In South America, in particular, new countries in which the sport might develop have been identified, and it is foreseeable that, in the near future, orienteering will be practised in most South American countries.

As of 8 May 2010, the IOF has 71 member countries of which 50 are full and 21 associate members. Several new countries are currently in the process of establishing the sport of orienteering and are expected to apply for IOF membership in the near future.

A new membership structure

In the 2006–2008 Congress period, the International Olympic Committee (IOC) conducted a review of the recognised international sports federations. The IOF successfully met the evaluation criteria and orienteering thus retained its status as an IOC recognised sport. The IOC, however, questioned the current IOF membership structure with full members and associate members and also the relatively low number of member nations represented at the World Championships.

As the IOF seeks to position orienteering for inclusion in the Olympic Games, the Council decided that the current membership structure be reviewed. The review revealed that, in terms of the IOF Statutes, the key differences between full and associate members relate to rights and participation in the General Assembly, nomination of candidates to Council, voting rights, participation in IOF events and to the membership fee. Council therefore concluded that in order to make it possible for more nations to participate in the World Championships, it would be necessary to make some changes to the Statutes.

A possible new membership model was presented at the Presidents' Conference held in Hungary in 2009 and following the positive feedback from the representatives present, Council decided to pursue the matter further. A proposal for changes to the IOF Statutes is to be presented to the General Assembly 2010 in Trondheim.

Enhanced presence at The World Games

The 8th World Games were organised in Kaohsiung, Chinese Taipei, in July 2009. The programme in Kaohsiung included competitions in 26 official sports and in 5 sports on the invitational programme. Three different orienteering events were included in the programme of The World Games, starting with a sprint followed by a middle distance event and a mixed team relay. The events were a resounding success. Since the 2005 World Games in Duisburg, Germany, the IOF has succeeded in taking many steps towards making orienteering an exciting arena experience for spectators and making it possible for everyone to follow the event on-line via internet. The enhanced presentation of orienteering was noted by visiting sports officials representing the IWGA and the IOC, as well as other sports, and the IOF was congratulated on its achievements.

Our excellent presentation in Kaohsiung would not have been possible without the support of an experienced technical team from the IOF. Recruited mostly from the team that organised the 2006 World Orienteering Championships in Denmark, 21 technical experts including a professional commentator became the key to the success. The next World Games are to be held in Cali, Colombia, in 2013 and a plan on how to secure a follow-up of the successful presentation of orienteering in 2009 is currently being developed.

A world perspective

The efforts to ensure a greater geographical spread of major IOF events, thereby meeting the objective of making orienteering a truly global sport, continue. In the past Congress period, the 2009 World Ski Orienteering Championships were successfully held in Hokkaido, Japan. The possibilities to stage World Cup events in Asia and Oceania have been investigated and it is anticipated that the efforts will bear fruit in the next few years. At the World Masters Orienteering Championships 2009, conducted in association with the World Masters Games, in Sydney and Lithgow, Australia, orienteering achieved a heightened presence.

In 2009, for the first time ever, Israel organised a major IOF event when the World Mountain Bike Orienteering Championships were held in Ben Shemen. In February 2010, the ski orienteering World Cup races in Romania, incorporating the European Championships, were the first World Cup events held in Romania in any sport, both summer and winter. Altogether 23 nations sent their athletes to compete in these events and in the associated Junior World Ski Orienteering Championship, the World Masters Ski Orienteering Championships and European Youth Championships.

A new milestone in the history of ski orienteering was reached when the sport was included in the programme of the inaugural Military Winter World Games in Aosta Valley, Italy, in March 2010. Athletes from 17 countries, among them four world champions, competed in the ski orienteering race. Another milestone will be reached in 2011, when ski orienteering is on the programme of the 7th Asian Winter Games in Kazakhstan.

New initiatives in quality assurance

The aim of the Event Quality Project introduced in 2008 was to review and develop the concept of event quality, to identify means of improving the functionality of the existing system and to assist the IOF in ensuring the quality of future IOF events.

In January 2010, a new event quality assurance system was introduced. The new system is comprised of four main components. Event standards will be established for each type of event. The IOF intends to require a stronger commitment from applicants, including economic guarantees, to secure the appropriate event standard and the IOF will, in turn, support the event organisers by appointing an Event Adviser team lead by a Senior Event Adviser. The team will be composed of experts in different fields and the national controller will also be part of the team. In the case of The World Games and the World Orienteering Championships, the Event Adviser team will be led by the IOF Sports Director. As part of the IOF's permanent structure, a new superior body, the Event Supervisory Board, will be introduced.

The efforts to secure full arena production and TV coverage of major IOF events continue. The year 2009 was very successful in this regard. For the first time in World Cup history, image production with large screens in the arena was implemented in all four rounds of the foot orienteering World Cup. Further, the orienteering events on the programme of The World Games in Kaohsiung, Chinese Taipei, were produced with live TV quality. There was also extensive internet coverage of major IOF events in 2009, a very significant achievement, making orienteering accessible on the global level.

Guiding principles for the event programme

The strategic initiative Attractive World Events in the Activity Plan 2008–2010 includes an assessment of the programmes of World Orienteering Championships and other major IOF events. Following the General Assembly in 2008, the Council initiated the evaluation of elite events project to assess the current programme against the objectives outlined in Strategic Directions, to analyse alternative programme designs, to recommend possible changes and to present consequences of the analysed alternatives.

In January 2010, the project presented a report to Council outlining its conclusions and suggestions for guiding principles for the future elite events programme in foot orienteering, in particular the World Orienteering Championships. Based on the proposal made by the working group, the Council will present to the 2010 General Assembly its thoughts on a future World Orienteering Championships concept.

The 2008 General Assembly appointed Switzerland organiser of the 2012 World Orienteering Championships. The 2011 World MTB Orienteering Championships were awarded to Italy. The General Assembly authorised Council to appoint the organiser of the World Ski Orienteering Championships in 2011 and Council subsequently appointed Sweden.

At the General Assembly held in Denmark in 2006, it was decided that the appointment of World Championship organisers be made yearly and that in odd years the appointments be made by Council. This decision was implemented, for the first time, in 2009 when the IOF Council appointed Finland organiser of the 2013 World Orienteering Championships and the 2013 World Trail Orienteering Championships.

The World Cup series in foot orienteering continues to be based on linking competitions with already existing, high quality events that are attractive to athletes, media and sponsors. In 2008, the World Cup comprised 13 races in five rounds: the European Orienteering Championships in Latvia, the World Orienteering Championships in Czech Republic and competitions in Norway, Sweden and Switzerland. The 2009 World Cup programme consisted of 9 races including the World Orienteering Championships in Hungary, and competitions in Finland, Norway and Switzerland. The European Orienteering Championships in Bulgaria, the Nordic Orienteering Tour in Finland, Sweden and Norway, the World Orienteering Championships in Norway and competitions in France and Switzerland constitute the 2010 World Cup.

Our athletes recognised

The International Committee for Fair Play recognised Thierry Gueorgiou (FRA), Anders Nordberg (NOR) and Michal Smola (CZE) for their sportsmanship during the World Orienteering Championships relay in Hungary in 2009 by awarding them the Fair Play Diploma in the category Act of Fair Play. The three athletes sacrificed their own and their nation's medal possibilities when stopping to assist a severely injured fellow competitor. Their actions epitomised the ideal of fair play.

The Athletes' Commissions have convened in conjunction with the World Championships and World Cup and have organised open meetings involving both athletes and representatives of the respective IOF Commissions. Two representatives from the Athletes' Commission in foot orienteering have been part of the project group developing the future elite events programme. The co-ordinator of the Athletes' Commission in MTB orienteering has participated in the meetings of the discipline commission and has also been responsible for the compilation of the world ranking list. In ski orienteering, the Athletes' Commission has, among other things, actively participated in the development of discipline formats.

Disciplines continue to develop

The Trail Orienteering Commission has continued to develop TempO as a potential paralympic format of trail orienteering and an additional World Trail Orienteering Championships competition. A World Tempo Trophy event will be associated with the 2010 World Trail Orienteering Championships in Trondheim, Norway and it is planned that the first official World TempO Championship competition be on the programme of the World Trail Orienteering Championships in Finland in 2013.

From 2010 onwards, the programme of major IOF events in mountain bike orienteering includes a World Cup series and World Masters MTB Orienteering Championships. The 2010 World Cup comprises 10 individual events and three relays in Hungary, Poland, Portugal and Italy. The 8th World MTB Orienteering Championships in Portugal incorporate the third round of the World Cup and the 3rd Junior World MTB Orienteering Championships.

The Ski Orienteering Commission continues its efforts to co-operate with the national federations in order to secure more high quality events in new countries and to encourage more federations to send teams to major IOF events.

The Rules Commission has worked together with the discipline commissions to revise and harmonise the competition rules for IOF events in all four IOF disciplines and the special rules for the World Cup in foot orienteering, MTB orienteering and ski orienteering.

The IT Commission continues to consider the implications of developments in technology on orienteering. Current considerations include data standards, GPS and timing and punching systems.

Extensive educational programme

Seminars for event advisers in foot orienteering have been held in South Africa, China, Brazil, Sweden, Czech Republic and Canada. The seminar in Czech Republic was the first ever accreditation seminar for participants representing both foot orienteering and MTB orienteering. The programme included joint lectures for foot and mountain bike orienteers, as well as separate sessions concentrating on discipline-specific issues. An accreditation seminar for event advisers in MTB orienteering was also organised in conjunction with the World MTB Orienteering Championships in Israel.

Seminars for event advisers in ski orienteering were held in Austria, Japan, Finland, Russia and Romania and seminars for event advisers in trail orienteering were held in conjunction with the World Trail Orienteering Championships in Czech Republic and Hungary.

The 13th International Conference on Orienteering Mapping was held in conjunction with the 2009 World Orienteering Championships in Miskolc, Hungary. The programme included presentations and discussion on map generalisation, the revision of the International Specification for Orienteering Maps 2000, the map evaluation project and recent developments in the field of orienteering mapping. Laser scanning of orienteering base maps will be the main topic of the 14th International Conference on Orienteering Mapping to be organised in conjunction with the 2010 World Orienteering Championships.

Registered Testing Pool revised

In accordance with the requirements of WADA, and to be compliant with the 2009 World Anti-Doping Code, the IOF revised its Anti-Doping Rules and the rules were duly approved by WADA.

At the beginning of 2009, the IOF Registered Testing Pool was revised and the athletes were required to submit their whereabouts information via the Anti-Doping Administration System (ADAMS) developed by WADA. The inclusion of athletes in the IOF Registered Testing Pool (RTP) is based on performance in the World Championships and on the World Ranking List, with consideration given to geographical representation. The Registered Testing Pool is constantly reviewed and updated and athletes can be notified for inclusion in, or removal from, the pool at any time.

In 2008 and 2009, a total of 144 in-competition tests were conducted at major IOF events in foot orienteering, MTB orienteering and ski orienteering. In accordance with the requirements of the World Anti-Doping Code, the IOF also conducted out-of-competition tests. In addition, WADA continued to conduct out-of-competition tests on behalf of, and under the rules and regulations of, the IOF. No positive test results were reported in any of the disciplines.

The Medical Commission continues to be responsible for advising the IOF Council on all matters covered by the IOF Anti-Doping Rules and on other issues in the field of sports medicine.

Low ecological impact

The IOF Environment Commission has continued to produce documents on good environmental practice and on the environmental impact of orienteering. Two such papers were published in the Scientific Journal of Orienteering. One paper was based on previously reported bird research and the other paper contained previously unreported material on a formula for comparing the trampling of humans and large animals.

In early 2010, the commission published a document on the ecological impact of orienteering. In the many thousands of orienteering events that are held worldwide each year, ecological incidents resulting in unacceptable damage are extremely rare. This document gives reasons as to why this is so and tests the expectation that orienteering has low ecological impact against a summary of reported scientific studies.

The commission also provided assistance to the Alberta Orienteering Association of Canada in the reporting of a trampling study it conducted.

Orienteering a member of the Olympic family

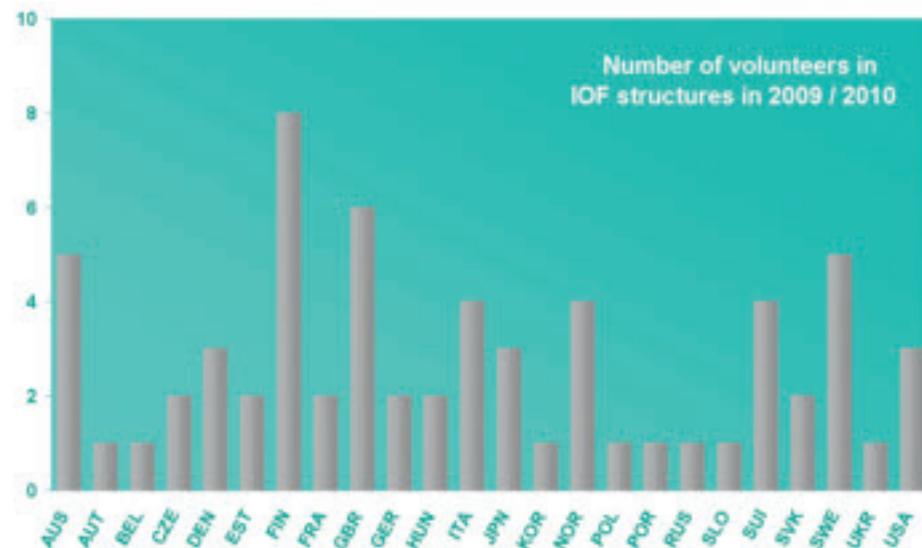

The IOF is recognised by the International Olympic Committee and is a member of SportAccord, previously known as the General Association of International Sports Federations (GAISF), the Association of IOC Recognised International Sports Federations (ARISF), the International World Games Association (IWGA), and the International Masters Games Association (IMGA). The European Masters Games Association (EMSA) was dissolved in November 2008, and the IMGA assumed responsibility for the European Masters Games and other Regional Masters Games.

In order to raise the profile of orienteering in international sporting circles, the IOF has, for more than a decade, systematically sought opportunities to have people elected to key positions in sports organisations within the Olympic Movement. At the ARISF General Assembly held in 2009, the IOF Secretary General Barbro Rönnberg was re-elected Secretary General and Treasurer of ARISF for a further four-year term.

At the 2010 Annual General Meetings of the IMGA and IWGA held in Dubai, the United Arab Emirates, the IOF was not able to secure the re-election of the IOF Honorary President Sue Harvey as a member of the IMGA Board of Governors and of the IWGA Executive Committee. Sue Harvey was first elected to the IMGA Board of Governors in 1995 and had been the Vice President of the IWGA since 2005. The IOF Council is currently taking measures to position candidates for future elections to these and other bodies of international multi-sports organisations.

During the Congress period 2008–2010, IOF representatives have attended international conferences and seminars organised by multi-sports bodies, such as the yearly SportAccord Convention, the IOC Sport for All Congress and General Assemblies and other meetings of the IWGA, the IMGA, the GAISF/SportAccord, the ARISF and the Association of Summer Olympic International Federations (ASOIF).

From 2008 onwards, the Recognised International Federations have yearly been invited to individual meetings with representatives of the IOC Sports Department. The meeting takes place in conjunction with the SportAccord Convention and provides the federation with an opportunity to give an update on recent developments and future plans, and to receive individual feedback and information on issues that are of particular interest to the relevant federation. The IOF was also invited to send a representative to the IOC Congress held in Copenhagen, Denmark, in October 2009.

In August 2008, the IOF signed a Collaboration Convention with the International University Sports Federation (FISU), the aim of which was to further develop the co-operation between the two organisations. The IOF also has a good relationship with the International Military Sports Council (CISM) and IOF representatives have continued to be invited to the World University Orienteering Championships and the World Military Orienteering Championships.

Proactive governance

In accordance with the decision taken by the 2006 IOF General Assembly, the size of the Council was increased from nine to eleven persons from the 2008 elections.

The 2006 IOF General Assembly also asked Council to consider a better method for choosing candidates for Council. Following this request, Council elaborated an improved election method, the aim being to increase transparency, to ensure a sufficient number of candidates and the election of both men and women with appropriate competencies and attributes. The necessary Statute revision was adopted by the General Assembly in 2008. Although the statute changes had not yet become effective, the member federations agreed to apply the proposed four step procedure at the 2008 elections.

The Presidents' Conference convened in conjunction with the 2009 World Orienteering Championships in Lillafüred, Hungary. Representatives of 26 member federations attended the meeting held on 20 August 2009. The agenda included a presentation of the achievements in each of the four strategic areas of the Activity Plan 2008–2010 and presentations on the purpose and status of regional development and on Council's plans to propose a new membership structure to the 2010 General Assembly. Council also gave an update on the ongoing Elite Events Programme review, the Elite Event Quality Project and the work of the group established to look into the Adventure Sports issue.

During the past Congress period, the IOF Council has convened nine times. The meetings have been held in Prostějov, Czech Republic; Lillafüred, Hungary; Lausanne, Switzerland; Helsinki, Finland (5 meetings) and Trondheim, Norway. Council has also held 7 meetings by means of electronic communication. The decisions taken by e-mail have been noted in, and regarded as part of, the minutes of the following Council meeting.

One of the objectives listed in Strategic Directions 2006–2012 is to improve the professional capacity of the IOF. The appointment of a Sports Director was the first step in this direction. During the past few years, the workload of the Secretariat has increased considerably. At its meeting in November 2009, the Council agreed that the IOF Secretariat be enhanced by appointing an office assistant. Since 29 March 2010, the IOF has four members of staff, equivalent to 3.7 full time positions.

During the past Congress period, Council has continued its efforts to secure income from external sources. While the initiatives have not yet realised income, negotiations continue with a number of potential partners.

Raising the profile

The Orienteering World magazine continues to be published once a year and is used as a PR tool with the aim of raising the profile of orienteering in the international sports world. The 2008 issue included presentations on the four recognised orienteering disciplines: foot orienteering, mountain bike orienteering, ski orienteering and trail orienteering, challenging the perception of orienteering as simply one discipline. The 2009 edition of the magazine focussed on The World Games and the successful presentation of the three orienteering competitions on the programme of this major multi-sport event.

Work has been undertaken to improve the IOF website in terms of both attractiveness and functionality, and further improvements are planned. The electronic newsletter O-zine has continued to be issued and also published on the home page four times a year.

The World Ranking section of the website now covers foot orienteering, MTB orienteering and ski orienteering and has recently been given a facelift and technical makeover. Updated World Ranking lists are regularly disseminated by email to member federations and media.

To 2012 and beyond

The 2008–2010 Congress Period is the last but one covered by Strategic Directions 2006–2012. In the past four years many key goals have been achieved. However the realisation of some goals will require continued effort in the coming two years and beyond.

Preparations for the strategic plan for 2012–2018 have commenced. To this end, Council has developed a road map outlining this process. The road map will be presented to the federations for discussion at the 2010 Congress and Strategic Directions 2012–2018 shall then be elaborated for presentation and endorsement at the 2012 IOF General Assembly in Lausanne, Switzerland.

Auditors' Report

To the General Assembly of the International Orienteering Federation

We have audited the accounting records, the financial statements and the administration of the International Orienteering Federation, Kansainvälinen Suunnistusliitto ry for the year ended on 31 December, 2008. The financial statements comprise the income statement, balance sheet and notes to the financial statements.

The Responsibility of the Council and the Secretary General

The members of the Council and the Secretary General are responsible for the preparation of the financial statements and for the fair presentation of the financial statements in accordance with laws and regulations governing the preparation of the financial statements in Finland. The members of the Council are responsible for the appropriate arrangement of the control of the company's accounts and finances, and the Secretary General shall see to it that the accounts of the federation are in compliance with the law and that its financial affairs have been arranged in a reliable manner.

Auditor's Responsibility

Our responsibility is to perform an audit in accordance with good auditing practice in Finland, and to express an opinion on the financial statements based on our audit. Good auditing practice requires that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance whether the financial statements are free from material misstatement and whether the members of the Council and the Secretary General have complied with the rules of the Association Act.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity's preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates made by the management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

The audit was performed in accordance with good auditing practice in Finland. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Opinion on the Federation's Financial Statements

In our opinion, the financial statements, showing a profit of 55.052,24 euros, give a true and fair view of the federation's financial performance and financial position in accordance with the laws and regulations governing the preparation of the financial statements in Finland.
